Beaujolais, France

I took over 3 ha of vineyards in 2007, all between 40 and 80 years old, and started my own winery to produce wines that will reflect the unique Moulin à Vent terroir.

Today with 5 ha, I started to convert our vineyard organic in 2012.

Through various experiences in wine making and vineyard management, I learned the techniques that make a great wine.

Through our farming process we focus on the soil as well as the environment in order to harvest grapes that are disease-free and at the right maturity.

The grapes are hand-picked and carefully sorted in the vineyards so that only the best of the crop is kept.

Burgundy, France

Having started farming organically since the 1970s, Aurelien Verdet's father was a pioneer in the organic movement and even got certified by 1971. A former motorcycle racer turned vigneron now in his forties, Aurelien succeeded his father and now carries the tradition of working by hand, continuing the Domaine legacy of organic viticulture.

The Domaine comprises holdings in the Hautes Cotes de Nuits, Vosne Romanee villages, 1er Cru Beaux Monts, 1er Cru Nuits Damodes and Boudots all of which are organically certified.

Aurelien's passion for his vines, which are all carefully tended to produce the highest quality fruit, translates to a very low intervention approach in the cellar, where the wines are precise and have clear terroir signature. A pure joy to discover.

In 1814, Jean Joseph MOREAU, a "tonnelier" from Montbard, founded the wine-merchant and trading firm, J. Moreau et fils, in Chablis.

DOMAINE CHRISTIAN MOREAU PÈRE & FILS

À CHABLIS DEPUIS SIX GÉNÉRATIONS

www.DomaineChrisitanMoreau.com

In 1974, the MOREAU family decided to give the Canadian company, Hiram Walker, a 50 percent stake in their company, and in 1985, transferred the remaining shares to them. The firm J. Moreau et Fils was then sold to the wine-trading company Boisset de Nuits Saint-Georges, since then no one in the family has been part of the company.

With the 2002 vintage, the Christian Moreau family regained their full rights, not only to exploit their own vineyards, but also to make and market the wines belonging to their Domaine.

"The quality here is again so good that I'm tempted to say that Chablis has yet another leading light to add to the usual stars of Raveneau and Dauvissat"....Allen Meadows Burghound

Camus Père & Fils is a family estate located in the town of Gevrey-Chambertin owning the largest holdings of grand cru vineyards in the area.

For more than 200 years, the 18-hectare estate (2/3 of which is Grands Crus) has farmed some of the most beautiful parcels of the Côte de Nuits: Mazis-Chambertin, Latricières-Chambertin, Charmes-Chambertin and Mazoyère-Chambertin.

Camus Père & Fils is renowned for making wines that fully express the terroirs of Gevrey-Chambertin: powerful and with character.

Created in 1992, the Domaine de la Choupette extends over 13 hectares, in Santenay and the municipalities of Chassagne-Montrachet and Puligny-Montrachet.

This is the 3rd generation of winegrowers at the head of the estate.

We make our wine with respect for tradition. In constant quest for quality, we only use old vats and oak barrels for vinification and ageing.

For the last 15 years, oenologist Xavier Vignon has become internationally known for being the winemaker of several of the best domaines in Châteauneuf-du-Pape and around. In 2002, some friends (who are wine importers) ask him if he can create his own wine. Choosing amongst the best wines he as made, he creates a blend Rhône with different vintages, and different appellations. His ideal wine, easy to understand, modern, powerfull and a great value for money.

DOMAINE DES BOSQUETS

Domaine des Bosquets is a 26 hectare property that has a long history in Gigondas, first mentioned as a lieu-dit associated with viticulture in a document from the 1376. Its association with the vine continued into the 17th century when Seigneur de Laval, a local provencale aristocrat, established a farm and vineyards on the site of the current property. Some of those buildings survive there to this day. In the 19th century the estate passed through the hands of Eugene Raspail, who was the first to note the diversity of soil of Gigonda. He recognised that there are three main soil types; more fertile dark clay, rocky limestone and clay, and then blue clay mixed with marl and small areas of sand. It wasn't until 1962 that it finally ended up as part of Gabriel Meffre's Consetllation of properties. When he died, he passed the estate to daughter Sylvette Brechet, as well as her son, Julien, who oversees the farming and makes the wines today.

Georges Lelektoglou

Originally from Greece, Georges Lelektoglou is part of the furniture in and around the Rhône Valley. He once worked as a Courtier de Campagne, looking for bulk wines for the likes of Guigal and Chapoutier, when he started making his own personal selections of wines to celebrate the birth of his eldest son in 1983. His wife's family was part of the co-operative and owned a historic vineyard in Larnage. Along with the Cave de Tain, they produced a quality Crozes-Hermitage in '83 that was a great commercial success. When he found exceptional bottles of wines, Georges also offered them to some of France's most celebrated, Michelin-starred restaurants, including Troisgros, Chapel, Bocuse and Gagnaire.

He opened up his first cellar in '88 and started to select personal cuvées in small quantities, looking for old, well-looked after vines and always working with trusted friends. He makes a Crozes-Hermitage and a selection of Côte-Rôtie in tiny volumes. Georges was a distributor of Château Rayas when he found a unique, tiny plot of 100-year-old Grenache vines very close to Rayas' vineyards – in the exceptional Pignan lieu-dit of Châteauneuf-du-Pape.

Georges' philosophy involves working with single parcels, minimising the number of varieties in the blend and ageing the wines in a manner respectful to their provenance. Please be aware that volumes are extremely limited.

Our estate was created by my grandfather Francis USSEGLIO, who came from Italy in 1931, settled in Châteauneuf du Pape and began producing his own wine in 1948.

In 1963, my father Raymond took over and with my mother Danielle they were going to create and expand the estate which would bear the name of DOMAINE USSEGLIO RAYMOND.

Since 1999 it is now my turn to operate and cultivate the 24 hectares of the estate..

Chateau de Saint Martin is a beautiful estate of 100 ha. The domain's history is rich and strong. Romans took over the estate at the second century 'BC. Then, with the monks of Lerins, the domain became a wine priory. They built a wonderful underground cellar, which is still in use today.

In 1740, a French noble aristocrat family took the estate. Ever since, Château de Saint Martin belongs to the same family. The domain is transferred from generation to generation, and mostly from mother to daughter.

The only man who has ever managed Château de Saint Martin is the Count de Rohan Chabot, who has worked a lot for the creation of the label « Cru Classé », in 1955.

Nowadays, Mrs de Barry, current owner of Château de Saint-Martin, narrates this rich history through her wines.

Langhe growers since 1796. Sori Paitin is a parcel of land located in Langa with an unparalleled expression. It's distinctiveness resides in the expression of this rooted relation that the family - Pasquero-Elia - has established within these lands. Resisting wars and severe weather, through 8 generations, an everlasting bond was grown.

Every small plot is carefully monitored and harvested with the right timing, with the objective of giving elegance, balance and purity.

- In the art of wine, in Langa, there are no rules or protocols. Sensation leads. Intuition is what lace experience, technique and touch. The grower performs a "prophetic" act, he spreads/allows the world all the shades of his terroir. It is a transcendent act, he made, through the wine, eternal and sensible an ensemble otherwise ephemeral and decaying.

Every so often a story comes along without a beginning and an end. This is the story of a visionary family, an uncontaminated terroir, and a shared passion for the world of wine. It is the story of Castello di Monsanto, a winery that set a revolution in motion with a vision that seems to go on forever.

Four vineyards: il Poggio, Scanni, il Mulino, il Salcio. A total of 72 hectares dispersed over altitudes ranging between 280 and 320 meters above sea level. The green belt surrounding them is a veritable green lung of enzymatic biodiversity, where everything is in perfect balance. This generates a vital organic harmony for the vines, so that they are the richest and purest expression of the essence of their terroir.

The history of Argiano took an about-turn while it was owned by Siena's noble Pecci family, with the construction between 1581 and 1596 of the splendid villa, an example of 16th century aristocratic residential architecture. Thanks also to the construction of the cellar, it was during those same years that Argiano developed its winemaking vocation.

Ownership of the estate changed hands over the centuries among various noble families, until the 19th century, when it came into the possession, and under the enlightened management, of Lady Ersilia Caetani Lovatelli, who succeeded in introducing and promoting Argiano's wines in the finest cultural circles of the time.

The great Italian poet Giosuè Carducci wrote a verse at the time saying "nella quale asprezza mi tersi col vin d'Argiano, il quale è molto buono..." (in the harshness of which I cleansed myself with Argiano wine, which really is good...).

The farm La Rasina born in the 70's by Santi Mantengoli, but just in the second half of the 80's, through the successor Vasco, the work was directed towards the winemaking activities. Since 1988 the company focused more on this area which in Montalcino was evolving rapidly; many investments both in the vineyards and in the cellar, have led the company to the current situation. Since 1997 the company is led by Marco Mantengoli, young wine technician, which placed its new ideas and modern technology and decades of experience handed by his father.

Podere Poggio Scalette became an autonomous wine-producing estate in 1991 when Vittorio Fiore and his wife Adriana Assjè di Marcorà acquired several plots of land and a rural building on the hill of Ruffoli, in the township of Greve in Chianti, in the very heart of the Chianti Classico appellation.

The estate is directly run by wife Adriana Assjè di Marcorà and son Jurij Fiore (a graduate of the School of Viticulture and Oenology of Beaune in Burgundy) with the overall supervision of Vittorio Fiore.

Brunello di Montalcino Pelagrilli

The Pacenti estate was established in 1970, with the purchase of the property north of Montalcino (Pelagrilli) by Siro, who then proceeded to plant some important vineyards, which are still there today, in the fresh, clay soils of the land overlooking Siena.

In 1988, management passed into the hands of Giancarlo. This was the year of the harvest in which Rosso and Brunello di Montalcino Siro Pacenti were bottled for the first time.

Marabino is an Artisan of Natural Wines from a Biodynamic Agriculture, free from synthetic chemicals from the vineyard to cellar, to ensure that they are an expression of the territory in which they were born in, their yields per hectare and attention to the quality of grapes, they try not to stress their vines but instead gives it the chance to focus on the fruit expression true of the vintage. The vines are not irrigated, and are in a very windy area, full of light reflected by two different, very arid sea.

In the vegetative season of the vines, the radical apparatus forces the underground to search for the humidest earth, and in the depths that the vine benefits from the minerals present on the soil that will serve to enrich its clusters, making them alive rich in freshness and sapidity Grape harvest is carried out by hand with selection of bunches in the vineyard, only when the grape reaches the right maturation, they parcel every single plot to enhance the differences of each single vineyard, the grapes then ferment in the tub without any pressing and no addition of selected additives or yeasts.

The wines are refined in our wine cellar until bottled without any use of oenological additives and are only marketed that in our opinion is in line if the result of the vintage reaches the level with our concept of quality.

Founded in 1833 by Vincenzo Florio, the Florio winery in Marsala look out towards the bright sea of western Sicily. Wrapped by the energy of the winds, brushed by a salty tang from the waves, these beautiful and silent cellars harbour the oak-wood barrels where Florio Marsala gently ages in seemingly motionless movement. Hundreds of barrels, vats and kegs, each holding its own story, breathe the sea through the tuff-stone floor, in the high naves where perfumes and architecture blend. This wonderful place is the theatre where Sicilian idea of beauty is distilled, and our Winemaker Tommaso Maggio - through the wise use of space, time and oxygen - creates Marsala wine by slowly blending all its sensorial potentials.

Veneto, Italy

From 1979, the winery has been producing its own wine. Each year Brigaldara produces approx 250,000 bottles from the grapes on its 50 hectares of vineyards. The winery philosophy has always been to produce quality wines which are representative of the land in which they are produced. Because of this, has constantly strive to achieve balance in the vineyards and never force the plants to overproduce. The key moment which influences the quality of our wines is the start of the harvest.

The story of this Winery is basically the story of a family. It started in the early 1900s in Serrana, home of farmers, olive groves & vineyards. It was here that in 1906, Antonio, the patriarch, was born.

Today, the Winery is run by the third Argiolas generation: Antonio's grandchildren. Its after all a simple story: one harvest after another, tradition is handed down from parent to child.

Jumilla, Spain

In 1841, Don José de Molina, commander of the Royal Armies in the Spanish colony of Manila, decided to return to his land in Jumilla, Spain. To honor the Philippine island where he had been for so long, he christened his lands as Finca Luzón.

He gave the land to his eldest daughter, Ana Josefa de Molina, and it was subsequently passed down through the women in the family. From its origin until the 1980s, Bodegas Luzón was run by women.

The Jumilla wine growing area is located in the southeast of Spain. The climate is continental, influenced by the nearby Mediterranean Sea, with warm days, limited rainfall, and cool nights. The soil has a coarse texture with abundant limestone, yielding small bunches of fruit with a good concentration of sugar, excellent acidity, and thicker skins.

One of the main producers and exporters of quality wines of the DO Jumilla, Bodegas Luzón is among the region's most historic wineries, producing wine since the end of the 19th century.

Rioja, Spain

Gregorio Martinez

The wines from Gregorio Martinez are from a SINGLE STATE. The land corresponds to the tertiary from an old glacier & the stones that it carried. The wines are produced following a patented production method by the wine maker Ricardo Cantera, who uses the carbonic produced during the fermentation, one of the best antioxidant agent and a great extracting force, with this system the wines contain very little sulfur, are more fruity, vibrant, fresh and aromatic. Very interesting the Tempranillo Sangrado, White Seleccion, a white wine as the old lost whites from Rioja.

Ribera del Duero, Spain

Hacienda Solano is a small family winery, located in La Aguilera, Burgos. A village that boasts some of the best and oldest vineyards in the D.O. Ribera del Duero.

HACIENDA SOLANO
BODEGA Y VINEÑOS EN LA AGUILERA - BURGOS - ESPAÑA

With simple work, we try to make each of our wines reflect the character of the place, the climate and the pine forest environment that surrounds us, the type and structure, the character and finesse of our limestone soils in the Ribera del Duero is reflected in the style of our wines.

We work with our own vineyards, with a sustainable viticulture that reflects the passage of several generations of vinegrowers. In them there is a lot of effort and dedication, but above all, passion.

Our philosophy has always been of minimal intervention, we work in an artisanal way, without yeasts, without additives, and with careful nurturing, we want our vineyards to express themselves freely.

Padthaway, South Australia

Located in the Padthaway valley which is comprised of rich Terra Rosa soils our estate vineyard benefits from excellent sun exposure producing grapes of optimum flavour, colour and tannin development. The warm summer days are moderated each evening by coastal winds that cool the vines and result in a longer ripening period. This extended period allows for the grape tannins and seed to fully ripen prior to being harvested, thus creating wines that are rich and supple on the palate.

THOMPSON
MARGARET RIVER

Jane and Peter Thompson purchased the Thompson Estate property in 1994, and the first plantings of chardonnay and pinot were in 1997, followed by the cabernet plantings in 1998. New plantings include new Burgundian clones of chardonnay, a total of 20 hectares under vine.

From the outset at Thompson Estate, the focus has been on high quality wine production and this has been recognized in a large number of wine show medals and accolades from the wine press. The most treasured has been the recognition by James Halliday, Australia's premier wine critic, that Thompson Estate is a Five Red Star winery, placing it in the top echelon of Australian wineries.

Colchagua, Chile

Emilio Bouchon arrived in Chile from Bordeaux in 1892, a pioneer of the Colchagua Valley and is responsible for the planting of high quality vineyards. Some of the vines which still remain in production date back to 1912.

In 1997, Mario Pablo Silva made a proposal to his father that would transform his bulk business into a bottling company for export, bearing his family's own brand. Mario Silva accepted his son's challenge which led to Casa Silva being created. In a short span of time, Viña Casa Silva has become widely recognised as one of the most significant producer of premium wine from Chile.

It has won important international recognitions and over the past few years, Casa Silva has been amongst the most highly awarded Chilean wineries.

- Robert Parker's Wine Advocate:

"Wineries such as Casa Silva have figured out how to produce terrific red wines at bargain price"

"Many of the wines of Casa Silva are excellent values"

- IWSC winery of the Year

- Most Awarded Winery of 21st Century

Founded in 1832, Castarede is the oldest French Armagnac trading House.

In 1932, Raymond Castarede took over the family company.

The family business which had a great activity in the beginning, and has not known the development that it should have for some reasons, in particular, geographical reasons. And in the family they are more collectors than merchants.

Very active in the local institutions (Company of Musketeers, BNIA, federation of Armagnac...)
Raymond Castare has repeatedly promoted this Eau-de-vie from Gascony

Take true passion for single malt whisky, add the boldness and cutting-edge innovation that the Israeli startup ecosystem is famous for, mix it with no-compromising commitment to craftsmanship and tradition, and you get M&H, Israel's first whisky distillery.

Founded in 2012, under the expert guidance of the late Dr. Jim Swan, the passionate and dedicated team of the M&H distillery has boldly crafted single malt spirits, matured by the hot and humid climate of vibrant Tel Aviv.

The casks that the M&H distillery use to mature their spirit ensure a wide and exceptional spectrum of flavors.

The core range are ex-bourbon casks along with red wine STR casks. The M&H team are always on the lookout for unique barrels such as pomegranate wine, red wine casks from selected wineries in Israel, kosher sherry, 400 liters French Limousin oak casks that were used to mature Kosher Cognac, rum, etc.

The Drouins are interested in quality, not quantity: with only traditional plant sorts planted, which develop high-stemmed trees, they produce relatively little crop, but of a very special quality. The fruit mash is only pressed once, in order to only extract the best. After distillation, the distillate is aged in different sized casks of various ages, even including a few sherry and port wine casks - the distillate is filled on average once per year. That means, the casks are chosen with the goal of letting the Calvados develop under optimal conditions. That's how the Haus Drouin managed to receive countless medals and honorable prizes, including amongst them the award of best Calvados cellarer.

'The Pig That Saved Irish Whiskey'

In 1875, in Dublin's Great Whiskey Fire 5000 barrels of whiskey stored in Malone's bonded warehouse suddenly ignited. History relates that it was the long squeal of a 'flaming pig' that raised the alarm, saving the city and the whiskey. Over a hundred years later, Flaming Pig Irish whiskey was born in the pig's honour.

Flaming Pig is a blend of Irish single malt and grain whiskies, made richer and spicier, with added smokiness, from intense barrel charring.

Capucana is not just any Cachaça, it is an explosion of Brazil for your tastebuds.

It is the result of a harmonious fusion of unique aromas and flavours from the freshly squeezed sugar cane juice, the unique blend of sugar canes is distilled and finally rounded off in American oak barrels previously used for bourbon, which are then left to further mature in the magical region of Islay, aged with peat-distilled malt whiskey.

EN PRIMEUR WINES

"EN PRIMEUR" is a French wine trade term for wine which is sold as a 'future', i.e. before it is bottled.

- The buying of wines at its very first offering price
- Wines purchased during the En Primeur offer period will be noticeably lower than after they are bottled
- En Primeur wines can possibly be a great investment as the value of wines may increase by the folds in 2 years from En Primeur to its release date
- Purchasing wines during En Primeur is probably the only way to secure premium wines at a reasonable price before the price is influenced by the market.
- En Primeur wines will only be delivered after one and a half to two years from the offer
- From the time the En Primeur is offered, all payments must be paid in full within the 30 days after the order is made

FINE WINES

Other than our extensive portfolio of agency wines, CornerStone also offers a wide selection of fine wines for investors and connoisseurs alike.

Our selection of fine wines feature some of the very best grand cru wines as well as premium labels from regions all over the world such as Italy, Spain, USA, Chile, Rhone and the rest of France.

For our latest En Primeur and Fine Wine List, please contact our Relationship Manager who will be glad to assist you.
